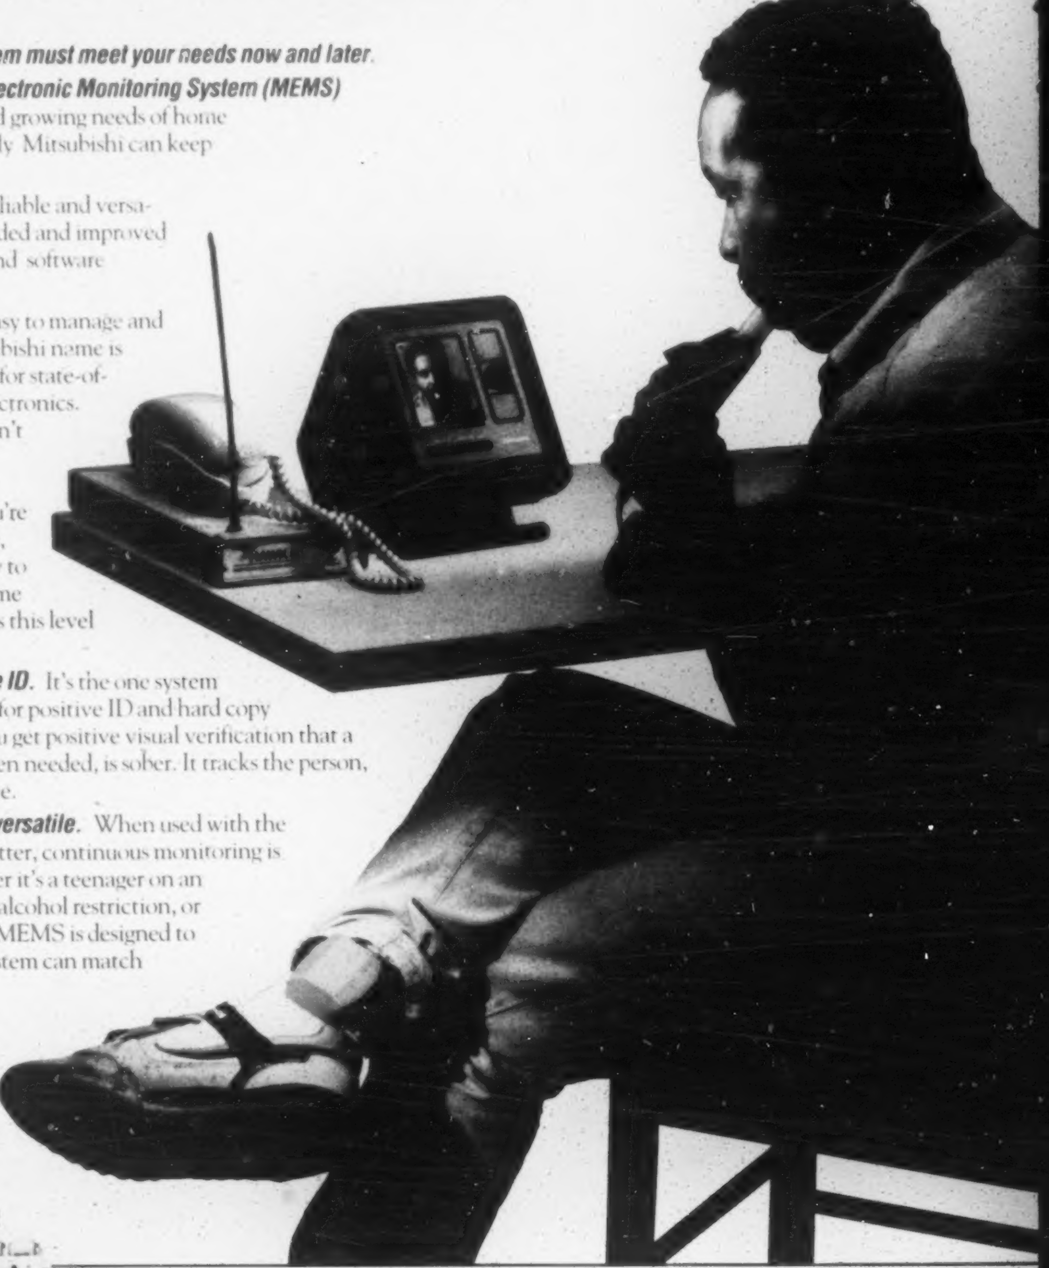
MITSUBISHI SETS A NEW STANDARD FOR ACCOUNTABILITY.



A home detention system must meet your needs now and later.

Only the Mitsubishi Electronic Monitoring System (MEMS) can meet the varied and growing needs of home incarceration. And, only Mitsubishi can keep you up to date.

In addition to being reliable and versatile, the system is upgraded and improved as new technological and software improvements occur.

The entire system is easy to manage and set up. And, the Mitsubishi name is known internationally for state-of-the-art, dependable electronics. The MEMS system won't become obsolete by corporate take-over or merger. And, when you're ready to add or upgrade, we'll still be there ready to help you. No other name in the industry provides this level of reliability.

MEMS provides visible ID. It's the one system that provides a picture for positive ID and hard copy proof of violations. You get positive visual verification that a client is home and, when needed, is sober. It tracks the person, not an electronic device.

The MEMS system is versatile. When used with the optional ankle transmitter, continuous monitoring is possible. Thus, whether it's a teenager on an enforced curfew, or an alcohol restriction, or intensive supervision, MEMS is designed to handle it. No other system can match this versatility.

When you consider what's really important, now and in the future, there is only one system worth the investment - MEMS.

MEMS/MEMS PLUS

...Mitsubishi has it all!

In 1989 the Supreme Court of the United States established Syva Emit immunoassays as highly accurate and reliable tests for drugs of abuse. Numerous court decisions over the last decade have also affirmed the accuracy of Emit technology.

In fact, Syva Company has set precedents for twenty-five years. Syva invented Emit technology, the method now used by 98% of NIDA* and CAP† certified labs. This fast, effective technique is the most widely used test method for drugs of abuse in the world.

Syva gives you precedent-setting reliability and efficiency with the Syva ETS drug testing system. In addition, our new SYVA EDMS Data Management System for the ETS Analyzer allows you to report and track test results more accurately, more easily than ever before. And for added flexibility and convenience, Syva Emit assays run on most general chemistry analyzers.

Let Syva Company help you set precedents in testing for drugs of abuse. Call today for a FREE brochure entitled, "Frequently Asked Questions About Syva Emit Drug Abuse Tests." Call toll free 1-800-227-9948, and in Canada 1-800-267-6205.

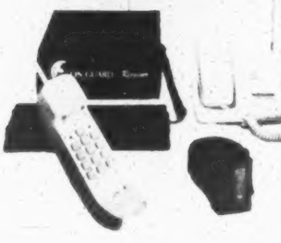
ONE MOBILE MONITORING SYSTEM DOESN'T JUST GO ALONG FOR THE RIDE. IT MAKES HOUSE CALLS.



In some neighborhoods, the moment a field officer leaves his vehicle to ring a doorbell, safety goes out the window. That's why we invented the Hitek ON GUARD MOBILE System, the first monitoring system to bring 2-way voice communication to the driver's seat.

With ON GUARD MOBILE, supervision rounds have never been safer - or "house calls" more efficient. Officers can carry on a full duplex voice conversation with offenders, access their telephone lines for urgent calls, and leave or receive messages. All from the confines of their car up to 750 feet away.

Use ON GUARD MOBILE with the ON GUARD PLUS home monitoring system and you'll make the most inconspicuous house calls of all. A radio frequency link allows interrogation of the home receiver unit without alerting the offender. What's more, a set of lights on the compact handset offers at-a-glance status reports on everything from curfew compliance to tamper condition to outbound message requests. The element of surprise. The ultimate in safety. It's what makes the Hitek ON GUARD MOBILE system the only way to make the rounds.

ON GUARD MOBILE from Digital Products Corp. You may never ring a doorbell in the line of duty again.

For more information about ON GUARD MOBILE, please call 1-800-323-9476.

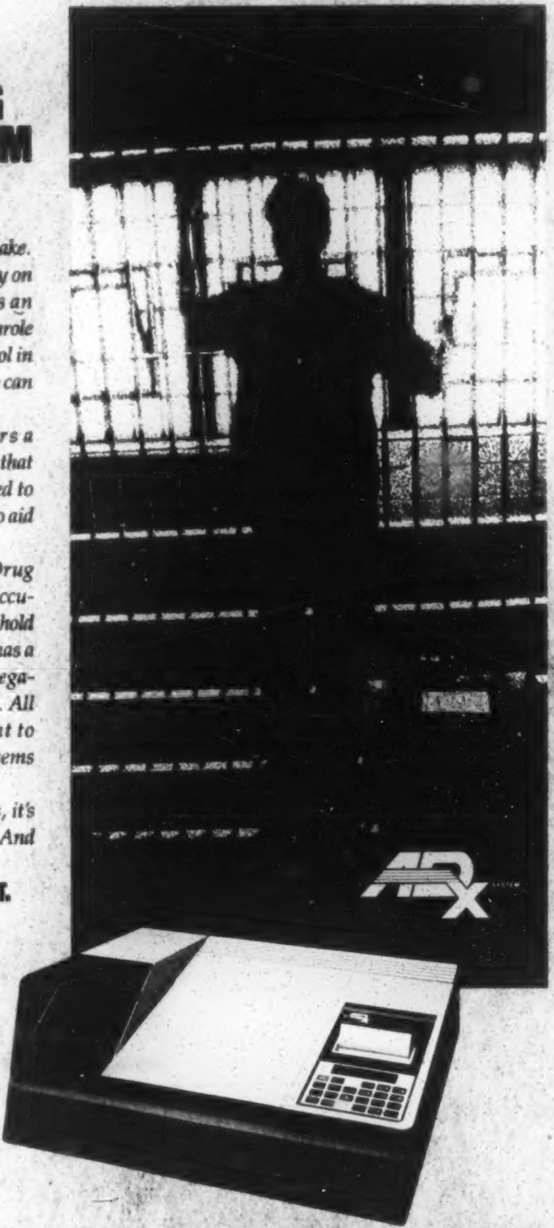
ACCURACY



IS YOUR DRUG TEST LETTING THEM OFF TOO EASY?

Futures depend on the decisions you make. You need information that you can rely on to answer some tough questions. Is an inmate ready for parole? What about parole violations? Are you maintaining control in your work release program? And how can you be sure who's using and who's not?

Abbott Diagnostics offers a unique abused drug screening system that will give you the information you need to answer some of those questions. And to aid you in making the right decisions.

The Abbott ADx® Abused Drug Detection System is unsurpassed in accuracy and consistently gives results that hold up in court. No other on-site system has a lower rate of false positives or false negatives. No other system is easier to use. All of which is part of our commitment to providing you with drug testing systems you can believe in.

After all, in the final analysis, it's the accuracy of the results that count. And that's the ultimate test.

PUT OUR COMMITMENT TO THE TEST.

A DIVISION OF ABBOTT LABORATORIES

PREFACE

With expanding caseloads, probation and parole agencies are facing some of their most demanding challenges. This fourth edition Probation and Parole Directory has been updated and compiled by the American Correctional Association to meet the growing needs of this correctional discipline. The directory includes information on systems and staff of the majority of municipal, county, state and federal probation and parole departments. It also provides data on salaries, budgets and client caseloads, and a comprehensive glossary of related terms from the field.

In 1990, the adult probation population increased almost 6 percent over the previous year; reported admissions to probation supervision rose to 1,637,557, reflecting the ever-present problem of prison crowding. Meanwhile, the parole population grew more than 16 percent. The latest national figures show 2,670,234 adult offenders on probation and 531,407 on parole. Add another 500,000 to those numbers as the conservative estimate for juvenile probation and parole/aftercare caseloads.

In response to this record number of caseloads, new methods of supervision are growing, including electronic monitoring, home release, day fines, reporting centers and intensive supervision. The latter was used with more than 55,000 adult probationers and 17,000 adult parolees in 1990. More than 85 percent of adult offenders released from prison receive supervision in the community.

The sheer volume of offenders on probation or parole and limited resources to service them dictates that multiple roles must be filled by today's field officers and aftercare personnel. Probation and parole professionals serve their communities in many ways as supervisors, counselors, investigators, educators and job placement specialists. In many cases they serve as critical liaisons with offender and juvenile justice agencies. They are vital assets within the corrections system.

As probation and parole agencies, researchers, legislators and public officials respond to the needs of the community, their clients and the system at large, we hope this directory will serve as a helpful reference tool. We thank all who contributed to this project, which contains information up to February 1992. For more detailed information, do not hesitate to contact the specific jurisdiction directly. If you have any questions about this new fourth edition directory, contact the Research department of the American Correctional Association at (301) 206-5100, extension 205.

Every effort has been made to include the latest information available from every source, and to be accurate and current at the time of publication; however, subsequent changes in structure, policy or systems are inevitable.

Revolutionary on-site drug test. Abuscreen® ONTRAK™ drug tests will revolutionize the effectiveness of your case management program. Easy to perform anywhere—at your desk or in the field—ONTRAK is already in use at probation and parole agencies, work release programs, prisons, jails, and halfway houses across the country.

Rapid results leave no time for alibis. Designed to provide accurate "yes" or "no" results in only three minutes, as you and the client/offender watch, ONTRAK allows no time for excuses and gives you complete control of the testing situation.

So simple—your entire professional staff can be trained. ONTRAK requires no instrumentation, and the test procedure is so easy that your professional staff can be trained on site!

Tests for all major drugs of abuse. ONTRAK kits are now available for Cocaine, THC, Morphine, Amphetamines, and Barbiturates. So whether it's coke, crack, free base, speeders, smack, or pot—you now have a convenient tool at your disposal to fight substance abuse among your clients or inmate population.

Revolutionize your drug testing program with the test designed for criminal justice professionals. For more information or to order, call 1-800-526-1247.

INTRODUCTION

From 1980 to 1990 the United States witnessed unprecedented growth in the use of correctional sanctions. Prison and jail populations expanded from 450,000 to 1 million. Probation and parole caseloads grew from more than 1 million persons to 3.1 million during the same time period. Probation remains the sentence of choice for judges, while parole reflects the supervision mode for the majority of persons released from incarceration. The constant pressures of institutional crowding combined with the need for effective planning in the use of community corrections requires a high level of communication and cooperation among probation and parole administrators. The Probation and Parole Directory published by the American Correctional Association helps promote such interaction. Professional organizations also aid in helping us meet those goals.

The American Probation and Parole Association (APPA) is an international organization whose members are actively involved with probation, parole and community-based corrections for adults and juveniles. APPA focuses on increasing the professionalism of field services through four major activities: (1) identifying, conducting, and/or promoting appropriate research studies; (2) developing field operational standards and guidelines for quality probation and parole practices; (3) providing technical assistance to aid field services in meeting our standards; and (4) conducting training events for field staff, managers and administrators. In addition, the APPA participates in many federally funded projects, including the following:

- Drug Testing Guidelines and Practices for Adult Probation and Parole Agencies; a research project aided by the Bureau of Justice Assistance.
- Training and Technical Assistance for Intensive Supervision Programs (ISPs) in Probation and Parole; development of prototypes and custom training and technical assistance programs.
- Drug Testing Training and Technical Assistance; development of a model drug-testing strategy for the criminal justice system, in cooperation with the Pretrial Services Resource Center.
- Coordinated Interagency Drug Training and Technical Assistance; curriculum development, in cooperation with the National Association of State Alcohol and Drug Abuse Directors.
- Training and Technical Assistance Curriculum for Drug Identification Screening and Testing in the Juvenile Justice System; development of a national educational curriculum that addresses issues such as physiological effects of drugs on adolescents and legal Issues.
- Offender Supervision and Victim Restitution; curriculum development focused on the implementation of victim services in the field.

APPA developed from the 1975 American Correctional Association's Committee on Probation and is currently an affiliate organization. ACA continues to provide active support of probation and parole through such activities as this Directory. I encourage you to use this document frequently and effectively. Resources for probation and parole should be maximized by networking with your colleagues and transferring programmatic technology, where appropriate. It is through the exchange of ideas, programs and strategies that we will maintain ourselves as an effective, professional field service.

DIRECTORY USER'S GUIDE

The 1992 Probation and Parole Directory provides the latest available information on federal, state and county adult and juvenile probation, parole and aftercare systems in the United States.

The information was provided as of February 1, 1992 and includes the following:
An overview of services throughout each state defines jurisdictions and responsibilities
Parole, pardon or release boards
State and/or county administration of field parole/probation and/or aftercare services; county, district, area or regional offices
State Court Administrators' addresses and phone numbers
Independent county or city/municipal probation, parole or aftercare offices

Each individual listing identifies, when provided, the following:
Parent agency when applicable
Chief administrator; probation and/or parole officials
Interstate compact contact
General information phone number
Record information check phone number
Public information officer
Programs and services provided
Expenditures for services; amount of fees, restitution collected
Beginning salaries for probation, parole personnel
Number of personnel
Client caseloads assigned, discharged, under supervision; average caseload per officer

The directory also contains aggregate information on the following:
Probation/Parole officers' beginning salaries
Officer training and educational requirements
Peace Officer status
Mandated use of firearms
Workload budgeting
Sentencing or parole guidelines
Services or programs provided (Collection of Restitution, Electronic Monitoring, Drug Treatment, Diversion, Job Development Programs)

The information in this directory was compiled from responses to a three-page questionnaire mailed to more than 1,600 probation and parole offices in the United States. Almost 700 questionnaires were returned. Addresses, phone numbers, and chief administrator names were updated by lists provided by various state and court agencies for those offices not returning the questionnaire.

See page 422 for survey questionnaire.

Five Powerful Reasons To Choose Today's Most Advanced and Proven Parole & Probation Management System

1. It's Proven

The product of 15 years of research and development, the OCS Parole & Probation Management System has been tested, proven and is being used in over 80 probation and parole centers by industry professionals.

2. It's Comprehensive

It does it all — a community supervision module designed for the most efficient and effective case management available including sections for personal and physical profiles, supervision of court orders, offender records inquiry, case planning, needs/risk assessment, contract management, transfers supervision, family reports as well as a wide range of management and systems information reports.

3. It's State-of-Art

The OCS Parole & Probation Management System uses the Open System Approach — the ORACLE* database and UNIX operating system — which means we can dance with just about anybody. So you can choose the hardware vendor of your choice.

4. It's Cost-Effective

In these times when productivity is the driving force behind every spending decision, OCS will be the best investment decision you've ever made.

5. It's User Friendly Service

At OCS, we believe customer service is a long-term commitment which begins the first time we meet. Comprehensive training is provided and on-going service support is just a telephone call away. Contact us today for an on-site demo.

▶PROBATION AND PAROLE SERVICES

ALABAMA

The Board of Pardons and Paroles considers for parole all adults committed to state correctional institutions. The Board has three full-time members who are appointed by the governor with the approval of the Senate.

Adult probation and parole services are administered by the Board of Pardons and Paroles. The office administers eight district offices, which in turn administer 53 branch offices serving the 67 counties in the state.

Each of the 67 counties has a court-assigned juvenile court responsibility. Two of the 67–Jefferson and Montgomery Counties–have Family Courts. These courts are part of a Unified State Court System. The judge of the Juvenile or Family Court has ultimate authority for all juvenile court functions. The Department of Youth Services establishes standards for certification of probation officers and subsidizes county probation departments. In effect, juvenile probation is provided by the state financially (50%) and by the counties (actual personnel). Juvenile probation/parole offices supervise all juveniles placed on probation or aftercare.

ALASKA

The Board of Parole is responsible for adult parole release. The five-member, part-time Board is appointed by the Governor and is paid per diem while traveling plus compensation for each day involved in Board business. The Executive Director of the Board reports to the Commissioner of Corrections.

Adult probation and parole field services are administered by probation officers in two Management Districts under the Department of Corrections' Division of Community Corrections. There are 11 sub-district offices, four of which also provide part-time services to other cities in their respective districts.

Juvenile probation is granted by the Court System. Supervision of probationers is by the Division of Family and Youth Services (DFYS), Department of Health and Social Services.

Release for juveniles after institutionalization is termed probation; supervision is provided by the DFYS.

TAPERED
SUPERfeatherlite™
Body Armor

In our research efforts to give the American law enforcement officer an even more comfortable, more concealable body armor, Second Chance has created what we feel is possibly the ultimate combination of comfort, concealability and bullet-stopping power: the TAPERED SUPERfeatherlite!

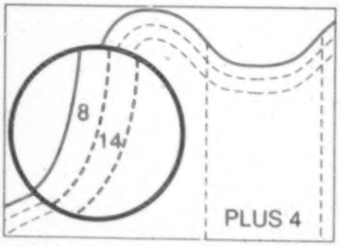
The outer half-inch rim of the TAPERED SUPERfeatherlite ballistic panel has only eight layers of Kevlar 129 ballistic cloth. This thickness will stop the vast majority of .38s, .22s, etc. The next half-inch into the panel has fourteen layers of Kevlar 129 protection that will stop the vast majority of 9mm, 10mm and .357 magnums.

One-inch from the outer edge of the each ballistic panel and throughout the entire rest of each panel is the full protection for the specific Threat Level listed on each panel label.

The center four-inches of the front and rear ballistic panels, from top to bottom, contains the extra four layers of Kevlar 129 making up the exclusive Second Chance SOFT CORE™ of vital area protection.

All material used in the SUPERfeatherlite family of Second Chance soft ballistic armor is American made and contains 100% DuPont Kevlar 129 for total ballistic integrity and quality.

The SECOND CHANCE TAPERED SUPERfeatherlite armor has been tested and approved according to the P.P.A.A. Standards and has passed independent ballistic testing at H.P. White Laboratories for the NIJ Standards although Second Chance does not claim this armor is approved by NIJ.



SECOND CHANCE IS MADE TO BE WORN!

That's why SECOND CHANCE has 'SAVED' more American law enforcement officers than ALL OTHER BODY ARMORERS!

ARIZONA

The Board of Pardons and Paroles is an independent state agency whose seven members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for staggered five-year terms. The Board is responsible for parole decisions for all adult felons committed to the Department of Corrections. They also review executive clemency applications and make recommendations to the Governor regarding these actions.

Adult parole services are provided by the Department of Corrections under the Division of Community Corrections.

The Department of Youth Treatment and Rehabilitation was created in 1990 as a separate agency from the Department of Corrections. Parole services are administered for youth completing institutional programming and/or residing in community treatment programs. The Interstate Compact Office provides both probation and parole services to out of state youth requiring supervision.

Adult and juvenile probation services are the function of the state court system. Twenty-five county probation departments in the 15 counties provide local services with state level services monitoring and funding provided by the Administrative Office of the Courts. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is the administrative head of the court.

ARKANSAS

Act 937 of 1989 abolished the Board of Pardons and Paroles and the Board of Community Rehabilitation to create the Board of Parole and Community Rehabilitation. The Board is an independent seven member (three full-time, four part-time) Board vested with the paroling authority for the state. The Board works in conjunction with the parole staff of the Department of Correction. They are responsible for pardon, parole and clemency action. Adult parole services are under the jurisdiction of the Department of Correction, Division of Field Services.

The Arkansas Adult Probation Commission (AAPC) was established through Act 151 of 1983. Adult probation services subsequently were transitioned from the Department of Correction to the Commission (nine-members and staff) with responsibility for administering adult probation services provided by statewide circuit courts.

The Commission on Community Based Rehabilitation was established through Act 378 of 1975, also known as the Alternative Service Act. The Commission is composed of six members who have the responsibilities of certifying Alternative Service Programs, recommending the release of inmates sentenced under this Act, and expunging the records of the offenders who successfully complete their sentence under this Act.

Juvenile services are under the jurisdiction of the circuit and chancery courts. Additional services are provided by contractual agreements with the Division of Children and Family Services, Department of Human Services through a network of community-based centers throughout the state.

RISK & NEEDS
ASSESSMENT, INC.

A movement is sweeping the country.

It is called automated assessment. People are discovering what we call the "new generation of assessment." It consists of computerized testing that is objective, accurate, and cost effective. Tests can be administered directly on the computer screen or in paper-and-pencil format. Regardless of how the tests are given, they are scored on IBM-PC compatible computers which generate on-site reports within minutes of test completion. Risk & Needs Assessment, Inc. provides a full menu of computer-scored tests that are designed for probation/parole programs, the criminal justice system, and community-based corrections programs.

Results? The Most Advanced Means of Behavior Assessment

Six Important Assessment Questions and Answers

How do you know when the client is truthful? The Validity (Truthfulness) Scale measures truthfulness and identifies guarded clients that deny, minimize or attempt to conceal information.

If the client lies, how can we get accurate test information? Truth-corrected scores are more accurate than raw scores. Raw scores show what the client wants you to know. Truth-corrected scores reveal what the client is attempting to hide.

Why is a test's database important? It permits ongoing research and annual testing program summaries. These database functions relate directly to quality control and annual program evaluation, while ensuring inclusion of your test data in annual restandardization research.

Why is it important to standardize a test on the population that will be tested? The advantages are many, including accuracy, reliability, validity and fairness. Risk & Needs Assessment tests are standardized on a state-by-state basis, and directly on client populations. When was the last time anyone offered to standardize their test on your client population?

Why is test individualization important? Because state laws, departmental requirements, client demographics, and program needs vary. Each test is designed to obtain specific information from a particular client population.

Are demonstration kits available? Free demonstration diskettes (accompanied with a test booklet) containing four test applications can be provided on a 30-day trial basis.

CALIFORNIA

Three parole boards come under the auspices of the Youth and Adult Correctional Agency: the Board of Prison Terms (paroles adults); the Youthful Offender Parole Board (paroles juveniles and youthful offenders); and the Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority.

The Board of Prison Terms is a full-time board which sets prison terms for adults. Its commissioners are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. Responsibility includes parole consideration hearings for life prisoners not covered by the Determinate Sentence Law, parole revocation, disparate sentence review, and investigations for the Governor on clemency applications.

The Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority, which consists of seven part-time members who are appointed by the Governor, is the releasing authority for individuals committed by the Superior Court to the California Rehabilitation Center under the Civil Addict Program. The Board also considers cases of outpatients and Civil Addict Parolees who violate their conditions of release /parole.

Adult parole services are provided by the Department of Corrections' Parole and Community Services Division.

Juvenile aftercare is supervised by the Department of Youth Authority's Parole Services Branch. Adult and juvenile probation services are provided by the counties.

COLORADO

The Board of Parole is comprised of seven full-time members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. They are an independent agency with paroling authority for adults only.

Parole supervision is administered through the Division of Adult Parole Supervision of the Department of Corrections.

The Juvenile Parole Board, an independent agency within the Department of Institutions, consists of seven part-time members who are appointed by the Governor. The Board has authority to grant, defer, suspend, or revoke all paroles of a child committed to the Department of Institutions as a delinquent.

The Division of Youth Services, under the Department of Institutions, provides aftercare services for juveniles.

Adult and juvenile probation services are a function of the Colorado Judicial Department.

CONNECTICUT

The Board of Parole is an eleven-member autonomous agency appointed by the Governor with consent of the House of Representatives or the Senate and assisted administratively by the Department of Correction. The Chairman serves full-time; the other members, part-time. The Chairman assigns members (including himself) to panels of three for each correctional institutions hearing. As the actual paroling authority, they make release, revocation, and rescission decisions for all individuals serving indeterminate sentences for crimes committed prior to July 1, 1981, and for all felons serving sentences greater than one year, not including those convicted of murder. The Board also has the authority to grant medical parole to any inmate diagnosed as terminally ill and incapable of committing a crime.

Parole supervision and services are provided by the Division of Parole under the direct administration of the Deputy Commissioner of Community Programs & Services within the Department of Correction. Since 1968, Connecticut has had a unified state system of corrections which includes responsibility for all jails, institutions, and parole services.

Adult probation services are provided by the Office of Adult Probation under the Connecticut Judicial Department.

The Superior Court, Juvenile Matters exercises exclusive and original jurisdiction over neglected and dependent children under 16, except for a limited number of serious juvenile offenders subject to mandatory waiver to the criminal docket.

SPECIAL REPORT

WINCHESTER® SUPREME® BLACK TALON™.

THE NEW LAW OF THE LAND.

There's been a dramatic breakthrough in centerfire pistol ammunition – one that will set the standards for accuracy and on-target performance.

It's called the Winchester Supreme Black Talon. A revolutionary new concept in bullet design that satisfies the toughest Law Enforcement requirements.

The design concept centers on Black Talon's patented "SXT™" (Supreme Expansion Talon) bullet – incorporating a never-before-seen "Reverse Taper" black jacket. And according to Winchester Product Development Engineer, Alan Corzine, the Black Talon is not just another hollow-point bullet.

40 Caliber

"With our Reverse Taper design, the jacket is much thicker at the bullet's tip than at the heel and the jacket also lines the cavity to encapsulate the lead core. This jacket design is the reverse of traditional jacketed hollow-point configuration." says Corzine, " In addition, we combine this special brass jacket with a very unique 'notching' assembly process to produce a bullet with positively controlled jacket and lead core expansion."

"This manufacturing sequence delivers three important features," Corzine continues, "First, the Reverse Taper jacket 'locks' the lead core in place during upset to prevent core slippage and jacket separation. Second, the 'notching' or 'pre-cutting' of the thick portion of the jacket produces strong, radial petals – eliminating common fragmentation, and increasing retained weight. Finally, these petals ereate a uniquely configured 'mushroom'."

"Most important, since we have total control over bullet expansion performance, we can delay the expansion sequence to achieve much deeper penetration – and do it at subsonic velocities. In other words," Corzine adds, "the Black Talon bullet penetrates, expands and maintains higher penetrating velocity for maximum effect – rather than traditional jacketed hollow-points that 'slam' into the target, expanding and loosing penetrating momentum immediately."

The features of the "subsonic" Supreme Black Talon SXT to Law Enforcement users are impressive: deep penetration and consistent, dramatic expansion – round after round, 100% weight retention, unique mushroom configuration for maximum impact performance, incredible match–grade accuracy, low recoil and muzzle flash ensuring quick, on-target follow-up, and strict inspection of all Law Enforcement rounds.

The new Winchester Supreme Black Talon. A revolutionary new family of centerfire pistol ammunition that will give Law Enforcement the edge they need – and the performance they deserve. Available in 9mm, 10mm, 40 and 45 calibers.

DELAWARE

The Board of Parole, an independent agency whose five members are appointed by and are responsible to the Governor, is the paroling authority for adult offenders. The Chairman is the only full-time member.

Probation and parole services for adults are administered by the Division of Community Services under the Department of Correction's Bureau of Community Custody and Supervision.

The Division of Youth Rehabilitation Services provides aftercare and probation services for juveniles under the Department of Services for Children, Youth and Their Families (SFCYATF). Juveniles are paroled by individual institutional review committees.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The Board of Parole, appointed by the Mayor, has responsibility for parole services and administering parole laws for all adult felons and misdemeanants sentenced to a term of six months or more and for youths sentenced under the Youth Act. It has responsibility for setting the conditions of parole and determining when parole is being revoked or favorably terminated.

The DHS/Youth Services Administration is responsible for juvenile aftercare services for committed youth. The services are provided by the Division of Social Services under the Bureau of Court and Community Services.

Adult and juvenile probation is a function of the DC Superior Court, Social Services Division.

FLORIDA

The Parole Commission, an autonomous full-time agency whose seven members are appointed by and are responsible to the Governor and his Cabinet, is responsible for making decisions concerning the release of adults on parole.

The Department of Corrections supervises adult felon probationers and parolees. Probation and Parole Services is administered through five regional offices, 20 circuit offices, which parallel the Judicial Circuit boundaries, and 9[illegible] branch offices. Investigative and supervisory services are provided for both the Circuit Courts and the Parole Commission. Community Control, a program resulting from the Correctional Reform Act of 1983, provides for house arrest as an alternative to prison.

A statewide Pretrial Intervention Program is also administered by the Department of Corrections as well as the operation of Probation and Restitution Centers. Contract provisions are made through the Department for the supervision of misdemeanants by local entities.

Juveniles are placed on probation or aftercare by the Community Control and Furlough Program within the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services' Children, Youth and Families Program Office. Community services and restitution are a major part of community control. Juvenile offenders work in these programs for a specified number of hours as part of court-ordered supervision.

GEORGIA

The Board of Pardons and Paroles is an independent agency which reviews adult parole cases and provides field parole supervision. It is also the only state agency vested with the power to grant clemency.

The Community Corrections Division under the Department of Corrections is responsible for services on the state and county level (field supervision, Probation/Resititution/Diversion and Detention Centers).

Juvenile intake and probation services are provided through three different organizational forms. The Department of Human Resources' Division of Youth Services provides intake and probation services in 118 counties as well as statewide parole services. In 13 counties, intake and probation services are provided by staff of county-operated and financed juvenile courts. In 28 counties, these responsibilities are shared by both Division of Youth Services' staff and county staff.

The Paroling Authority under the Department of Public Safety consists of three members with a full-time chairman and two part-time paid members. The Authority fixes minimum terms of imprisonment, grants or denies parole for adult offenders who are convicted of a felony, revokes parole, and investigates and makes recommendations to the Governor on applications for pardon. The Paroling Authority's field services supervises adult parolees.

The Office of Youth Services under the Department of Human Services grants parole to juveniles. Supervision is by the Community Services Section of the Youth Correctional Facility.

The Adult Probation Offices under the circuit courts supervise adults who are convicted of felony offenses and a few convicted of misdemeanor offenses and granted probation. In the First Circuit, only adults who are convicted of traffic and misdemeanor offenses requiring supervision are referred to the District Court Counseling Service.

The Family Courts administer juvenile probation services.

IDAHO

The Commission for Pardons and Parole is an independent agency comprised of five part-time members who review adult parole cases. The members are appointed by the Board of Correction.

Adult probation and parole services are provided by the Division of Field and Community Services of the Department of Correction. Community based work release centers are also operated through this division. Presentence investigations and reports are provided to the courts.

Aftercare services are carried out by seven regional directors who supervise regional juvenile justice Programs in the state. The regional directors report to the Director of the Department of Health and Welfare.

Juvenile probation services are provided by state regional programs in 1/5 of the counties (by contract with the counties) and by county probation staffs in the remaining 4/5 of the counties. The county probation staffs report to county commissioners.

MOST OFFENDER DRUG ABUSE PROGRAMS FAIL.

THIS ONE WORKS.

MORAL RECONATION THERAPY (MRT) FOR YOUR RESIDENTS AND CLIENTS:

- Uses cognitive-behavioral methods.
- Transforms treatment-resistant populations.
- Cuts 3-year recidivism to as low as 16%.
- Meshes easily with your current programs and with AA and NA.
- Revitalizes your staff with new energy and enthusiasm.
- Is easy to implement.

ILLINOIS

The Prisoner Review Board is an independent agency of twelve members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate to six year staggered terms. It is the paroling authority for both adult and juvenile offenders, although most adult offenders are serving determinate sentences and are released at one half of their court imposed sentences. The Board hears cases of parole and release violations and imposes sentences. The Board may revoke and restore good conduct credits recommended by the Department of Corrections of thirty days or more per year.

The Community Services Division, under the Department of Corrections, is responsible for the supervision of all committed persons placed on parole or mandatory supervised release, and supervises in accordance with the conditions set by the independent Prisoner Review Board. Effective July 1, 1991, the division reorganized community supervision to begin the PRESTART Program. The goals of this program are to prepare inmates for the responsibilities of release during incarceration and to positively impact recidivism and prison crowding by concentrating resources on high risk releasees. PRESTART consists of two phases. Phase I is a mandatory 30-hour release school during which the inmate prepares an individual development plan. Phase II uses community service center offices to assist releasees in achieving reintegration goals. The special intensive supervision unit supervises high risk releasees. Each of the four community services zones also has a community drug intervention unit.

The Juvenile Division provides field services to juveniles through parole supervision, alternative placements and coordination of community services. Correctional parole agents are assigned to each youth soon after admission. In the community, the parole agent acts as a service and counseling advocate for youth. Their duties include interaction with local agencies and programs to enlist resources to assist youth in continuing their education and/or vocational training upon release as well as obtaining group or foster home placements for youth unable to return to their natural home, and providing crisis intervention to youth experiencing adjustment problems on their return to the community.

Adult and juvenile probation services and detention services are administered by the circuit courts in each of the 102 counties and funded by the counties. Qualifying county departments receive varying amounts and rates of salary subsidies to improve and expand court services by the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts, Probation Division. One hundred percent grant-in-aid reimbursement is provided to select counties to administer new programs to divert adult and juvenile offenders from commitment to state correctional facilities. All salary reimbursement and grant-in-aid is contingent on compliance with state regulations set down by the Supreme Court, including workload and operational standards, annual participation in professional training, annual service planning, statistical reporting, and monitoring evaluation of all court services. Supervision of the adult and juvenile Interstate Compacts are vested in the Probation Division.

INDIANA

The Indiana Parole Board consists of five full-time paid members appointed by the Governor. Parole is considered at the expiration of a minimum term for indeterminate sentence prisoners by the Board which also acts as the Governor's Clemency Commission. Prisoners serving life sentences are eligible for parole consideration after serving 20 years if the offense was either first or second degree murder and after 15 years for any other offense, which resulted in the sentence of life. The Juvenile Parole Committee grants parole to juveniles committed to state institutions.

The Parole Services Section, under the Department of Correction, supervises adult and juvenile parolees through of seven district offices serving 92 counties.

Probation services for both adults and juveniles are administered at the county level under the supervision of the Judicial Conference of Indiana, an organization consisting of all of the state's full-time judges of courts of record. The Judicial Conference is governed by a Board of Directors which is chaired by the Chief Justice of the Indiana Supreme Court. Probation officers are county employees directly supervised and employed by the judge(s) in the county. The Indiana Judicial Center, the staff agency for the Judicial Conference of Indiana, is responsible for administering the certification examination of prospective probation officers, for providing orientation and educational programs for probation officers, and developing standards for probation services. The Indiana Judicial Center administers the Indiana Interstate Compact for Probation, and collects statistics concerning home detention and electronic monitoring of probationers. The Division of State Court Administration collects all other data.

National Juvenile Detention Directory

Contains current information specifically relating to juvenile detention facilities. Not only does it list phone and fax numbers, addresses, and names and titles of presiding administrators, but each facility is listed by state and includes facility type, operating budgets, year opened, average stay, and administering agency. Statewide summaries include facility types, operating budgets, average per capita costs, and various breakdowns of personnel and population. Also included are nationwide summaries on major characteristics of juvenile detention facilities, populations, budgets and per capita costs, number of facilities by agency type, dates opened, and much more. The juvenile detention center locator listed by institution makes finding a particular facility easier.

IOWA

The Board of Parole, an independent agency reporting to the Governor, reviews adult felony cases of the state correctional facilities.

The Department of Corrections, Division of Community Correctional Services has funding and oversight responsibilities. Community Based Corrections has eight judicial district departments of correctional services. The administration of each district is accomplished by a board of directors. Each board is comprised of a county board of supervisor member from each county in the district, plus judicial appointees, advisory committee members or citizen representatives. The districts provide comprehensive programs statewide for adult offenders, including pre-trial release services and supervision, presentence investigation, probation, parole, work release, and interstate compact. Four districts provide intensive supervision programs for pre-trial, probation and parole cases. There are sixteen residential/work release facilities operated within the state, serving pre-institutional offenders, work releasees and operating while intoxicated offenders.

Juveniles are released (parole) upon the order of the committing court and are supervised by the Division of Adult, Children and Family Services within the Department of Human Services. The county court retains jurisdiction of these youth, and the court must order any change in placement.

Juvenile probation services in eight judicial districts are provided by juvenile court officers and other personnel appointed and administered by each district's Chief Juvenile Court Officer in accordance with the rules and procedures of the State Judicial Department.

KANSAS

The Kansas Parole Board is a five-member Board appointed by the Governor to four year terms. The Board meets full-time to review cases for adult offenders, hold initial hearings, public and institutional (closed) parole hearings, investigate clemency applications and discharge parolees.

The Department of Corrections, Division of Community and Field Services, provides supervision for parolees and Interstate Compact probation and parole cases. There are four regional offices statewide.

Conditional Release Supervision (parole) of juveniles is a function of the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services in cooperation with the Courts. The superintendent of the institution to which a youth is admitted determines the release date for that individual. Paroles are administered by area offices of the Department.

Adult and juvenile probation and presentence investigations are administered by the Court Services Division of the District Courts, except where independent municipal court offices have been established.

KENTUCKY

The Parole Board is an autonomous agency whose members are appointed by the Governor; it is attached to the Department of Corrections for administrative purposes only.

Adult probation and parole services are administered by the Community Services and Facilities' Division of Probation and Parole, within the Department of Corrections.

Juvenile probation and aftercare services are administered by the Division of Family Services under the Department of Social Services of the Cabinet for Human Resources. Family Services district managers assisted by juvenile court liaison specialists and direct services staff serve specific geographic areas in administering comprehensive services to children in trouble and their families.

LOUISIANA

The Board of Parole is an independent agency whose seven full-time members are appointed by the Governor. Their duties include the review of adult cases to determine appropriate parole action. It has no administrative function over probation and parole officers.

The Division of Probation and Parole, under the Department of Public Safety and Corrections, supervises all adult probationers and parolees (with the exception of Criminal Neglect of Family). Both the courts and the Board of Parole are serviced by the Division. The Division administers four regional offices, which in turn administer 18 district offices serving the 64 parishes of the state. DeRidder and Oakdale have independent city court probation.

Juveniles are paroled by the committing judge, who sets the parole date for juveniles placed in state training schools. The Youth Development Office, within the Department of Public Safety and Corrections, Division of Youth Services, supervises juveniles placed on aftercare and probation, except where family and juvenile court probation departments have been established. Eleven district offices serve the 64 parishes in the state.

MAINE

The Parole Board, which is appointed by the Governor, hears pre-1976 adult cases of parole and juvenile violation cases from the Maine Youth Center. Those sentenced under the new Criminal Code which became effective May 1, 1976 have flat sentences and no parole. One of the Parole Board members acts as final aftercare revocation hearing officer at the Maine Youth Center.

The Division of Probation and Parole is organized under the Department of Corrections to provide adult and juvenile field services through six probation/parole districts.

MARYLAND

The Maryland State Parole Commission consists of seven full-time, paid members whose jurisdiction extends to local city and county jails. Members of the Commission are appointed by the Secretary of Public Safety and Correctional Services with the approval of the Governor and advice and consent of the Senate. The Commission is responsible for granting parole, reviewing requests for warrants for alleged parole violation, recommending executive clemency requests to the Governor, and evaluating parolees' performance when on parole.

The Division of Parole and Probation, an agency of the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, supervises parolees and probationers and assists them in successfully reintegrating into the community. The Division administers a community service program as an alternative to supervised probation and incarceration, a viable citizen volunteer services program, and provides supervision and investigation services to the courts and parole authority. The state is administratively divided into four geographic regions, each headed by a Regional Administrator who reports to the Assistant Director for Field Operations.

Juveniles placed on aftercare and probation come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Juvenile Services. The state is divided into five geographic areas, each administered by a supervisor responsible to the Assistant Secretary for Field Services. Juvenile counselors provide aftercare and probation services for their respective areas.

The Parole Board is an independent agency within, but not subject to, the Department of Correction under the Executive Office of Public Safety. The Board also serves as the Advisory Board of Pardons for the Governor. The Parole Board is responsible for the granting and revocation of parole for all commitments to state prison, reformatory and county houses of corrections serving a sentence of 60 days or more from either the Superior or District Court. Parole Board members are appointed by the Governor and serve five-year terms.

Adult parole supervision is provided by a field staff under the direction of the Chief Parole Supervisor. Parole officers are responsible to a Regional Supervisor who reports to the Deputy Chief Parole Supervisor. Nine regional offices serve the 14 counties in the state.

The Department of Youth Services' Bureau of Community Services, under the Executive Office of Health and Human Services, is responsible for supervising juveniles placed on parole.

Adult and juvenile probation are the functions of the county courts. Each Chief Probation Officer reports to the judge of his or her court. The Commissioner of Probation, who is appointed by the Committee of Chief Justices, establishes standards.

The Parole Board is made up of seven full-time Civil Service members who are also members of the Department of Corrections. The Board reviews all adult parole cases.

The Bureau of Field Services, under the Department of Corrections, administers adult parole and felony probation services. The state is divided into three regions in which supervisors oversee the county and state probation and parole agents and corrections centers. Adult misdemeanant probation services are provided by District Courts throughout the state. The District Courts are supported by the jurisdiction in which they are located (either municipalities or counties). Several districts do not have probation departments; the magistrate in these districts or volunteers supervise probationers.

The administration of juvenile probation and parole falls within the purview of the state, the Court Administrator and the county levels of government. The Office of Children and Youth Services is required to provide consultation and assistance to juvenile probation workers. In all counties, juvenile courts are divisions of probate courts and have exclusive original jurisdiction over delinquent children and concurrent jurisdiction over neglected and dependent children under 17. Minors who have committed felony crimes after their 15th birthday may be waived to adult court (circuit) for trial. The Juvenile Courts may commit youth to the Department of Social Services for treatment services which may include aftercare. These juveniles are subject to the Youth Parole and Review Board.

MINNESOTA

The Commissioner of the Department of Corrections has responsibility for parole and supervised release. With the exception of the parole of inmates with life sentences, this parole authority is delegated to the Office of Adult Release. An advisory panel composed of departmental employees advises the Commissioner regarding inmates with life sentences. The delegation of authority provides for the Executive Officer to grant parole, supervised release and work release; to revoke parole, work release and supervised release; to discharge persons under indeterminate sentences; and to approve conditions regulating offenders on parole, work release and supervised release.

The Executive Officer of Juvenile Release, under the authority of the Commissioner, is the paroling, revoking and discharging authority for juveniles.

Probation, parole and supervised release services are provided by the state and counties in different manners. Counties participating in the state Community Corrections Act (one-third of the counties; two-thirds of the state population) provide probation, parole and supervised release services to both adults and juveniles. In the remaining counties, adult felony probation, parole and supervised release services are provided by the state while juvenile probation and parole services and adult misdemeanant services are provided by county personnel or through contracts with the state.

The Parole Board, under the direction of the Commissioner of Corrections for administrative purposes only, is the paroling authority for adult offenders.

The Community Services Division of the Department of Corrections supervises adult probationers and parolees and makes presentence investigation.

Under the Department of Human Services, the Division of Family and Children's Services provides statewide probation and parole services for the youth courts through the Office of Youth Services' Community Services Division. These services are offered through youth services counselors employed by the Office and assigned to the courts throughout the state. The Office paroles youthful offenders from its facilities upon the approval of the Superintendent of each facility.

MISSOURI

The Board of Probation and Parole, the adult paroling authority, is appointed by the Governor and is under the supervision of the Director of the Department of Corrections. The Board administers probation and parole services and provides investigative and supervisory services to the Circuit Courts of the state. It also provides investigative and supervisory services on a limited basis to several smaller counties and, to a larger extent, St. Louis City and Jackson County (Kansas City) for recognizance releases.

Juvenile probation and parole services are provided by probation officers assigned to the 44 Circuit Courts serving 115 counties. Exceptions are juveniles sentenced to the state institutions who are administered by the Department of Social Services' Division of Youth Services upon release.

MONTANA

The paroling authority for adult offenders is the Board of Pardons. Three part-time members are appointed by and are responsible to the Governor.

Adult probationers and parolees are supervised by the Community Corrections Bureau under the Corrections Division of the Department of Corrections and Human Services.

Juvenile aftercare services were transferred to the newly created Department of Family Services on July 1, 1987. Juvenile parolees are supervised through five regional administrators.

Juvenile probation services are administered locally by judicial districts which are funded by the counties.

NEBRASKA

The Board of Parole, the paroling authority for adult offenders, is comprised of five full-time members appointed by the Governor. If the offender is granted parole, he is then referred to the office of Parole Administration. The Board of Parole may advise the Board of Pardons (Governor, Attorney General, and Secretary of State) on the merits of any application for remission, respite, reprieve, pardon or commutation, but such advice is not binding.

The Adult Parole Administration, within the Department of Correctional Services, provides parole supervision for adults. The Juvenile Parole Administration, within the Department of Correctional Services, provides supervision to juveniles. Release dates for juveniles are granted at the discretion of the superintendent of the particular institution.

The State Probation System is responsible for adults and juveniles placed on probation through the courts. The Administrator of the State Probation System reports to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Supervision is maintained through 20 district offices and 21 satellite offices.

NEVADA

The Board of Parole Commissioners is an autonomous board consisting of six full-time members who are appointed by the Governor to four year terms. They meet once monthly at each of five state prisons to review adult paroles and hold parole revocation hearings.

The Board of Pardons (Governor, Attorney General, five Supreme Court Justices) meets twice yearly to consider commutations and pardons.

Adult parole and probation services are administered by the Department of Parole and Probation in all the counties. The Department prepares presentence reports on convicted felons and gross misdeameanants for 35 District Courts and supervises individuals placed on probation by these courts as well as parolees released by the Board of Parole Commissioners.

Juvenile Parole is administered at the state level under the Department of Human Resources through the Youth Services Division and the Nevada Youth Parole Bureau. Juvenile paroles and releases are determined by procedures established for such reviews by the superintendents of the State Youth Training Centers.

Juvenile probation services are administered by district juvenile courts at the county level. The majority of the state's population resides in Clark (Las Vegas) and Washoe (Reno) Counties.

NOTE: Nevada Youth Parole is currently designing and implementing an integrated model program with the consultation of Professor Trouy Armstrong. It incorporates: (1) the balanced approach; (2) risk/need scales for assessment; (3) institutional liaison with parole officers assigned to youth while they are in training centers; (4) intensive service/supervision units; (5) objective performance indicators of parolee progress and program effectiveness. More details on the program are available by contacting Mr. Bash at the above address.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

The Board of Parole, which consists of five part-time members nominated by the Governor and approved by the Executive Council, is the paroling authority for adults.

Adult probation and parole services are provided by the Department of Corrections, Division of Field Services.

The Juvenile Parole Board consists of five part-time members appointed by the Governor for five-year terms. The Board grants parole to juveniles committed to the Youth Development Center; they are supervised by the Juvenile Parole Department of the Center. Under the Division for Children and Youth Services, the Bureau of Residential Services administers parole services as an aftercare component. The Bureau of Children has responsibility for probation services.

NEW JERSEY

The State Parole Board is a full-time board composed of a chairman and eight associate members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Board is comprised of panels for adult, young adult and juvenile cases. The members are further paired to hear county jail cases. The Board is the paroling authority for all offenders committed as adults, young adults or juveniles in the state plus county jail inmates with terms in excess of 60 days. The Board also investigates and advises the Governor on all applications for executive clemency. In 1984, a Victim Input Program was started. The Board considers the testimonies of victims of first and second degree crimes in making decisions.

The Bureau of Parole, under the Department of Corrections, provides supervision for parolees by making available the necessary assistance, guidance and controls required for community living. Further, it provides a residential treatment service for selected parolees designed toward a reorientation of their attitudes and life styles and a subsequent restoration of them to the community. The Bureau further carries out investigative and support services to the work/study release and furlough programs and conducts clemency investigations for the office of Governor.

The institutional parole officers provide the necessary link between the institution and the field parole offices in preparole planning and resolution of community problems prior to parole. The Bureau is involved with all parolees aged 14 and older who are released from the state's correctional institutions in addition to parolees from other state jurisdictions accepted under the terms of the interstate compact.

As a judicial function established by statute, probation is a disposition which may be imposed on both adults and juveniles as an alternative to confinement in state or county facilities. The Supreme Court, under the leadership of the Chief Justice, is responsible for setting statewide probation policy. The Assistant Director for Probation at the state level Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) coordinates day to day programs and activities, maintains responsibility for interstate cases, and acts as a consultant to the Judiciary on probation matters. The state also manages a line operation Intensive Supervision Program.

Assignment Judges of each judicial district make recommendations for Vicinage Chief Probation Officers. These individuals are appointed by the Director of the AOC with the approval of the Chief Justice. Assignment Judges also appoint Probation Officers, fix salaries and administer day to day operations of the local probation departments. Operating costs are paid for primarily by the counties.

NEW MEXICO

The State Parole Board, which consists of four full-time members appointed by the Governor, has the authority to parole adult offenders committed to the Corrections Department; make recommendations to the Governor in cases of clemency or pardons; consider those cases recommended by the Probation and Parole Division for parole discharge; and supervise parolees through periodic reports from the Probation and Parole Division.

All adult probationers and parolees are supervised by the Probation and Parole Division of the Corrections Department. In addition to supervision, Probation and Parole staff perform executive clemency investigations for the Governor's office, and prepare presentence investigation reports for the courts. The Probation and Parole Division supervises a transitional employment opportunity program for adult parolees and operates a community corrections program, intensive supervision programs and electronic monitoring/house arrest programs.

The District Courts administered juvenile probation services until July 1989 when they were transferred to the Youth Authority, a new state agency. These services, along with juvenile parole services, are under the Youth Authority's Community Services Division. The Division is comprised of five regional administrators who supervise thirteen Juvenile Probation and Parole Offices and community based programs. The programs are administered by private providers through contracts with the Youth Authority.

NEW YORK

The Board of Parole is an administrative body within the Division of Parole possessing the powers and duties specified in Executive Law, Section 259C. The Board consists of 19 full-time members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for six-year terms. Board members are assigned to interview panels on a continually rotating basis.

The Division of Parole is responsible for the community supervision of offenders released from prison by action of the Parole Board or by conditional release. The Division is an organizational unit of the State's Executive Department. The Chairperson of the Board of Parole is the Chief Executive Officer of the Division.

Parole Officers are the Division's line personnel and are usually assigned to an area office or a correctional facility. Parole Officers assigned to a correctional facility guide and direct inmates during their period of incarceration. These Parole Officers help inmates develop positive attitudes and behavior, motivate participation in appropriate programs, and prepare inmates for their Board interviews and eventual release to the community. Parole Officers assigned to an area field office supervise and guide parolees during the period of adjustment from incarceration to community reintegration. Parole Officers are peace officers who are trained in the use of firearms.

The New York State Division of Probation and Correctional Alternatives was established within the Executive Department of the State of New York and is empowered by Section 243 of the Executive Law to oversee the practice of probation and alternatives to incarceration. Within this mandate, the Division's prime focus is on ensuring that effective probation and alternatives to incarceration services are available to all communities, and on maximizing community-based management of offenders, juvenile delinquents, and persons in need of supervision. The Division's programs are intended to provide a continuum of sanctions, methods of supervision, and approaches to treatment which, when used individually or in combination, provide viable options to the judiciary and to the state's criminal justice system for the effective management of offenders and program participants.

The Division for Youth, which cares for youth placed and sentenced by the family and criminal courts of New York State for offenses committed under the age of 16, provides aftercare supervision on a regional basis for those placed by the Family Courts. For those youth sentenced to the Division by the adult courts for certain violent offenses, parole supervision is provided by the Division of Parole.

The New York City Department of Probation, part of the Executive Branch of the city's Municipal Government, provides services to Family Court for juveniles up to the age of 16 years; as well as support/paternity/custody/reconciliation matters for adults.

The Parole Commission is the sole releasing authority for male and female adult inmates. The five commissioners are appointed by the Governor. The Commission is funded through the Department of Correction but is responsible only to the Governor.

The Division of Adult Probation and Parole is responsible for the supervision of all adult probationers and parolees; it has no releasing authority. The Director of the Divison is ultimately responsible to the Secretary of the Department of Correction.

The Juvenile Services Division of the Administrative Office of the Courts is responsible for juvenile intake, probation and aftercare. Juvenile probationers are supervised by Juvenile Court Counselors. A juvenile is released from an institution at the discretion of the staff of the institution except when committed for a definite term and in cooperation with a prerelease conference with a court counselor. There is no juvenile parole board as such.

The Parole Board is a completely autonomous agency with authority to parole adults. Its three part-time members are appointed by the Governor.

The State Pardon Board is completely autonomous with authority to pardon adults. By state statute, this three-member, part-time board is comprised of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Attorney General, and the Governor.

All adult parolees and probationers are supervised by the Division of Parole and Probation under the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation. The Division also makes presentences for courts.

Juvenile probation services are provided in cooperation with the county juvenile supervisor in each judicial district.

The Division of Juvenile Services, under the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, receives court granted custody of juvenile delinquents and unruly youth and is responsible for all case management services including aftercare.

OHIO

The Division of Parole and Community Services, Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, is responsible for community based correctional programs, facilities and services. It is comprised of three bureaus: the Adult Parole Authority, Community Services, and Adult Detention Facilities. Each bureau is headed by an administrator who reports to the Chief of the Division. The Parole Board of the Adult Parole Authority has parole authority over adult felons. In addition to the nine full-time paid members, eleven hearing officers expand the function of the Parole Board.

All parolees and selected probationers referred by the common pleas courts on a contract basis are supervised by the officers of the Adult Parole Authority. Currently, 50 of the 88 counties in the state contract with the Adult Parole Authority for probation services. In the remaining counties, probation services are provided by county probation departments.

Adjudicated juvenile delinquents who have committed offenses, which if committed by adults would be considered felonies under the Ohio Revised Code, may be placed in the custody of the Department of Youth Services for treatment in institutions. Minimum sentences of six or twelve months are determined by offense classification. An early release program does exist. Upon release from the institution, the child enters aftercare status at one of eight regional offices operated by the DYS. They remain in custody of the DYS until discharge or their 21st birthday. Parole revocation hearings are conducted in the committing court.

Probation of juveniles is provided by probation officers who are appointed by a juvenile court judge.

OKLAHOMA

The Pardon and Parole Board is the paroling authority for adult offenders. The Board has five part-time members, three appointed by the Governor, one by the Court of Criminal Appeals, and one by the Supreme Court. The Board, a separate state agency, recommends paroles, commutations and pardons to the Governor who has the final decision.

Due to the reorganization and regionalization of the Oklahoma Department of Corrections, there is no longer a Division of Probation and Parole. The seven Probation and Parole Districts have been placed under the administration of the various regional directors.

Within the Department of Human Services (DHS), the Division of Children and Youth Services is responsible for probation services to the juvenile courts (in all but three counties), and for statewide parole services.

OREGON

The Board of Parole and Post-Prison Supervision is the paroling authority for adult offenders who committed felonies prior to November 1, 1989. Its four full-time members are appointed by and responsible to the Governor but serve as an independent body. The Community Services Division of the Department of Corrections provides parole services, presentence investigation and probation services to adult offenders assigned to the agency and also administers the Community Corrections Act (CCA). The Release Center is responsible for parole and discharge planning and placement of adult felons. Community Corrections Act legislation provides funds to local units of government to plan, develop and deliver correctional sanctions and services at the local level. The overall purpose is to provide local sentencing options in lieu of imprisonment in state institutions. There are nine CCA departments serving ten counties providing probation, parole and other services.

Parole supervision of juveniles is provided by the Children's Services Division's Office of Juvenile Correctional Services, under the Department of Human Resources.

Probation for juveniles is a function of the individual county juvenile courts.

PENNSYLVANIA

The Board of Pardons, a five-member board, includes the Lieutenant Governor and the Attorney General serving as specified by the state constitution. Three additional members are appointed by the Governor and serve part-time. The Board hears petitions for executive clemency.

The Board of Probation and Parole, a state agency, is responsible for the parole release and revocation decisions and supervision of all adult offenders receiving a sentence of two years or more. Offenders sentenced to a maximum sentence of less than two years are paroled by county courts and supervised by county probation departments. The Board consists of five full-time members, appointed by the Governor with the consent of a majority of the Senate members to serve staggered, renewable six-year terms. Board members are prohibited from engaging in any other employment or political activity.

The Board also has authority to supervise probation cases and offenders sentenced to confinement with a maximum of less than two years when paroled and referred to the Board by the county courts. The Board has only supervision authority in these special cases; county courts retain authority to revoke, terminate or other judicial actions. The Board is responsible, by state statute, for establishing uniform statewide standards for county adult probation services. It also administers a Grant-in-Aid Program which provides funds to counties for the improvement of county adult probation services.

Within the context of the Juvenile Court Act, the state provides institutions for juveniles but the counties administer juvenile services, i.e., probation aftercare (the term parole is not used). The Juvenile Court Judges' Commission is responsible for advising juvenile courts concerning the proper care and maintenance of delinquent children; establishing standards governing the administrative practices and judicial procedures used in juvenile courts; examining personnel practices and employment standards used in probation offices; collecting, compiling and publishing juvenile court statistics; and administering a grant-in-aid program to improve county juvenile probation services. Commission staff also provides training for juvenile probation officers. The Commission is comprised of nine juvenile court judges appointed by the Governor.

SOUTH CAROLINA

The Board of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services is composed of seven members who serve six-year staggered terms. The members are appointed by the Governor with consent of the Senate, one from each of the six congressional districts with one member-at-large.

The Department of Probation, Parole and Pardon Services supervises adults placed on probation by the court, paroled by the Board and inmates in early release programs created by the legislature to relieve prison crowding. They also develop a range of supervision programs, some as alternatives to incarceration, for use by the judiciary as sentencing options. Vested in the Board is the authority to grant paroles, to restore citizenship rights through pardon, and to oversee the operation of the Department.

The Department of Youth Services is responsible for providing intake, probation and aftercare (parole) services through three district offices under its Community Division. A ten-member Juvenile Parole Board maintains the sole release authority for juveniles committed to the Department of Youth Services.

SOUTH DAKOTA

The Board of Pardons and Paroles, administratively linked to the Department of Corrections, but independent in its paroling authority, reviews adult parole cases. Parole, pardons and supervisory services are administered by Parole Services, Board of Pardons and Paroles through the Executive Director.

Adult and juvenile probation services, youth services programs and juvenile parole (aftercare) are administered on the state level by the Court Services Department of the Unified Judicial System. Court Services Officers (probation officers), employed by the eight circuit courts, provide all preliminary investigations and reports; all probation program services for juvenile misdemeanants and adult offenders; interstate compact for adult probationers; placement and services to adjudicated youth in foster care and residential group care; juvenile parole services (aftercare); divorce custody investigations and mediation services; and other related matters.

Juveniles are released, supervised and discharged from the State Training School and the Youth Forestry Camp upon recommendations of the Superintendent and Parole Services and approval by the Department of Corrections.

TENNESSEE

The Board of Paroles is an autonomous seven-member full-time Board appointed by the Governor to six-year staggered terms. The Board conducts all parole hearings, makes recommendations to the Governor on executive clemency, and supervises parolees through Parole Field Services.

The Division of Probation, under the Department of Correction, supervises adult probationers and provides probation services to all counties.

The Department of Youth Development provides probation and aftercare services for juvenile offenders through its Probation Division. Several cities and/or counties maintain separate residential services and probation departments for juveniles. Juvenile commitments may be either indeterminate or determinate. The release date for a juvenile is determined by the Department of Youth Development with the approval of the Juvenile Court Judge. Indeterminate releases are based on recommendations made by the superintendents of the youth development centers where juveniles reside, with approval by the Commissioner of Youth Development and the committing judge. Determinate sentence releases are authorized after the completion of the sentence with incentive time figured at approximately 30 percent. The majority of juveniles released from development centers, group homes, or contract programs are placed on aftercare status following their return to their home community.

TEXAS

The Board of Pardons and Paroles is an independent agency which reviews cases and determines parole eligibility. The six members of the Board and nine parole commissioners act in panels for purposes of parole selection. The Pardons and Paroles Division, under the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, is responsible for parole supervision and preparole investigations in ten geographic regions.

Adult probation supervision is provided by the Community Justice Assistance Division of the Department of Criminal Justice, which establishes standards and provides funds for local community supervision and probation departments. The 117 district departments are under the administration of the District Courts; officers are employees of the courts.

Supervision of juvenile parolees is administered by the parole offices of the Texas Youth Commission's Community Services Division, Regional Operations. Release dates for juveniles are determined by the superintendent of the facility based on recommendations of primary caseworkers.

The Juvenile Probation Commission is a state agency which establishes standards for juvenile probation services and juvenile detention services and provides training, technical assistance, and financial aid to juvenile boards. The local juvenile departments are under the administration of juvenile boards; officers are county employees.

UTAH

The Board of Pardons is a five-member full-time board having full parole, pardon and commutation authority over all sentenced prisoners. The function is to determine when and under what conditions release from confinement or retaking of parole shall occur. Board members serve five-year terms, and are appointed by the Governor. Although administratively related to the Department of Corrections, the Board's decision-making authority is autonomous and uninfluenced.

The Field Operations Division of the Department of Corrections provides adult probation and parole supervision and administers community correctional centers. In addition, the Department of Corrections contracts with private providers throughout the state for both residential and non-residential services fulfilling needs for which resources are not available within the state structure. The Division of Youth Corrections, within the Department of Human Services, provides supervision of releasees from juvenile institutions. The Division has its own paroling authority, the Youth Parole Authority, which has jurisdiction of all youth committed to the Division by the juvenile court. The Youth Parole Authority consists of five part-time members and is the sole releasing authority for juvenile offenders committed to the Division for secure confinement. The members are appointed to three-year terms by the Board of Youth Corrections.

On July 1, 1987, the Division assumed full administrative and operational responsibility for the state's detention centers. The Division is also responsible for establishing and monitoring standards for licensing all programs in the state that provide services specifically for delinquent youth.

Juvenile intake and probation is administered in districts by probation officers under the juvenile court system.

VERMONT

The Board of Parole is a completely autonomous agency appointed by the Governor. Its five part-time members have jurisdiction over male and female adult offenders.

Adult probation and parole services come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections whose Commissioner reports to the Secretary of the Agency of Human Services. Area managers supervise all probation, parole and institutional functions within a geographic region of the state. Their purpose is to insure a continuum of comprehensive services to all offenders.

There is no longer any functional juvenile parole system. Children in custody go into placements and eventually return to their communities where supervision is the responsibility of the caseworker.

Juvenile probation services are provided by the Agency of Human Services, Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services' Division of Social Services through twelve district offices responsible as well for the supervision of delinquents who are in the state's custody.

VIRGINIA

The Parole Board is a separate, autonomous body reporting only to the Governor through the Secretary of Transportation and Public Safety. It is comprised of five full-time members who are responsible for assessing those persons eligible for parole, granting of parole when appropriate, discharge of those who satisfactorily complete the parole period, and revoking those cases where delinquency is established.

The Division of Adult Community Corrections under the Department of Correction administers 39 probation-parole districts, community diversion programs and liaison with local jails.

Release to aftercare supervision and the supervision of all juveniles placed on probation are administered by the Virginia Department of Youth and Family Services. The Department was created July 1, 1990 under #66-1 of the Code of Virginia. The Department has a 7-member Board which promulgates regulations (standards) and develops programmatic and fiscal policies governing the operations of programs and facilities of the Department.

WASHINGTON

The Indeterminate Sentence Review Board is an independent, five-member Board whose functions include adjusting minimum terms, paroling, revoking parole and discharging from parole all adult offenders sentenced to prison prior to July 1, 1984. It also must facilitate the transition from the indeterminate sentence model to the determinate sentence model now in effect in the state.

Within the Department of Corrections, the Division of Community Services is responsible for the supervision of adult felony probationers, parolees, interstate cases, and cases supervised under the provision of the Sentencing Reform Act. Probation services in several forms remain available for first time non-violent and other selected offenders. Counties provide adult probation services for most misdemeants.

There is no juvenile parole board. The release dates for juveniles is determined by the Division of Juvenile Rehabilitation under the Department of Social and Health Services. Juvenile parole services are provided throughout the state by six regional offices.

Juvenile probation services are provided in each county at the local level. Thirty-three probation offices have been established to serve the 39 counties.

WEST VIRGINIA

The Board of Probation and Parole, comprised of three full-time members who are appointed by the Governor, is the paroling authority for adults. After the minimum sentence is served, the Board recommends parole.

The Division of Corrections, under the Department of Public Safety, is responsible for granting releases and supervision of probationers and parolees as well as administering adult and juvenile interstate compact cases.

The Supreme Court of Appeals maintains probation departments that are responsible for providing probationary supervision services to all adults and many juveniles. Per statute, juveniles return to the committing court for institutional release, considered probation, as release is judicially determined. These juveniles are supervised by the Division of Human Services, under the Department of Health and Human Resources in some cases and by the West Virginia Supreme Court Probation Offices in others. In approximately 60% of the cases, the Division of Human Services also provides the courts with juvenile probation officers.

WISCONSIN

The Parole Commission is the paroling authority for the state. The Parole Commission is made up of four full-time members and a chairperson.

Supervision of adult parolees and probationers is the responsibility of the Division of Probation and Parole, under the Department of Corrections. The Division supervises clients throughout six geographic regions.

Juvenile probationers are usually supervised by county social services departments. Supervision of juvenile aftercare is the responsibility of the Division of Youth Services' Bureau of Community Resources, under the Department of Social Services. Counties have the option to provide their own aftercare services and some have elected to provide this service.

The Division of Youth Services-Juvenile Offender Review Program's function is to oversee case planning and to make release decisions.

WYOMING

The paroling authority for adults is vested in the Board of Parole. The Governor appoints all seven members for six-year terms. Duties include granting and revoking paroles, recommending commutation of sentences to the Governor, and inmate review upon attainment of minimum sentence.

The Division of Probation and Parole is within the Department of Corrections. It is a statewide system which provides probation and parole services for adults.

The Department of Family Services' Division of Youth Services assumed responsibility for juvenile probation and parole services on January 1, 1992. Juvenile probation services are also provided in conjunction with several municipal and county programs.

US PAROLE COMMISSION

The United States Parole Commission, an independent agency placed within the Department of Justice for administrative purposes, has jurisdiction over all eligible federal prisoners, and continuing jurisdiction over those who are released on parole or mandatory release. On a cooperative basis the Commission uses the services of staff employed by the Bureau of Prisons. That staff prepares classification summaries, progress reports and other reports concerning parole applicants.

Field supervision of released prisoners is provided by Federal Probation Officers, who are employed by the United States District Courts. They function as "parole officers" and prepare reports concerning the adjustment of parolees for the Commission.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE US COURTS

Federal Pretrial Services Officers and Probation Officers serve U.S. District Courts in 94 judicial districts located throughout the United States. Pretrial Services Officers conduct bail investigations on persons charged with federal offenses as well as supervise defendants released pending final disposition and those placed on pretrial diversion. Federal probation officers conduct presentence investigations for the court on defendants pending sentence, while also performing other investigative functions at the request of the Bureau of Prisons and the U.S. Parole Commission.

Supervision is extended by federal probation officers to those persons placed on probation, paroled from institutions by action of the U.S. Parole Commission or military authorities, and those on supervised release imposed to follow a period of confinement under the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 (enactment of federal sentencing guidelines).

Community Corrections Acts for State and Local Partnerships: A Technical Assistance Guide – Revised

Mary K. Shilton with Sandy Pearce and John Madlor, contributing

Essential resource for corrections professionals, state and local legislators, and members of the public who are involved with community corrections programming. Discusses all aspects of establishing a community corrections act. The practical issues discussed range from how community corrections acts improve correctional programs and provide a framework for monitoring results, designing an act, gaining support, managing resources and treatment, implementing and funding to sentencing trends. Also includes a comparative analysis of various states' goals, resources, populations served, and benefits versus costs. (1992, 92 pages, 0-929310-74-8)

Paroling Authorities: Recent History and Current Practice

Edward E. Rhine, William R. Smith, Ronald W. Jackson, Peggy B. Burke, and Roger Labelle

The most comprehensive and current publication about parole in the United States. The work begins with a discussion of the history and changing philosophical context of parole. It addresses the complete spectrum of issues facing paroling authorities today, including jurisdiction, current political environment, discretionary parole release, post-release supervision, parole revocation, organizational variations of paroling authorities, prison crowding, and the future of parole. Also explores the Canadian system of parole. An indispensable resource for students, academics, policymakers, and professional staff involved in the parole process. (1991, 220 pages, 0-929310-51-9)

Correctional Assessment, Casework & Counseling

Anthony Walsh, Ph.D.

Written by a former corrections practitioner, this text covers practical interviewing and counseling skills, including how to adapt counseling theories to community or institutional corrections and how to supervise the alcoholic, drug addict, sex offender, schizophrenic, and mentally immature client. Sample case materials such as presentence reports, sentencing guidelines, classification scales, and risk and needs scales give readers an understanding of the actual assessment process. Also examines female, juvenile, and elderly offenders. Excellent reading for correctional staff, students, and counselors. An Instructor's Manual is available with the purchase of ten or more books. (1992, 332 pages, 0-929310-75-6)

Community-managed Corrections and Other Solutions to America's Prison Crisis – Revised

Roger J. Lauen, Ph.D.

An examination of the social and political factors affecting crime and sentencing. This test presents both practical and theoretical aspects of community-managed corrections. Lauen analyzes how we have arrived at the present predicament of massive crowding and presents a plan that will reduce incarceration and correctional expenditures without increasing crime. Gain valuable information on alternatives such as early release, improving parole, deinstitutionalization of the mentally ill, new sentencing structures, and more from an author with 17 years of experience. (1990, 168 pages, 0-929310-41-1)

GLOSSARY

PROBATION AND PAROLE TERMS

A

Absconder An offender who fails to report for probation, parole or aftercare supervision, and whose whereabouts are unknown.

Accessory Not the actual perpetrator of a felony, but one who in some way was concerned with the commission of it. May be an accessory before the fact by inciting or counseling, or after the fact, by assisting the felon.

Accessory After the Fact One who, having full knowledge that a felony has been committed, conceals it, harbors, assists, or protects the person sought for or convicted of the crime.

Accessory Before the Fact One who, being absent at the time a crime is committed, assists, counsels, cites, encourages, engages, or commands another to commit the crime.

Accessory During the Fact One who fails to interfere or give help such as may be in his power to prevent the commission of a criminal offense.

Accumulative Sentence A sentence passed before the first has expired, to commence upon the expiration of the first.

Active Case A case for which a probation or parole service has been initiated and has not yet been terminated.

Active Supervision A classification for the differential supervision of probationers/parolees in which a minimum number of personal contacts and collateral contacts are required per month.

Acquittal The termination of a criminal action or proceeding against a person in favor of that person.

Addict Any person who regularly uses any habit forming narcotic drug so as to endanger the public morals, health, safety, or welfare, or who is or has been addicted to the use of such habit-forming drugs as to have lost the power of self-control with reference to his addiction.

Addiction A state of utter dependence on a drug for a sense of physical and mental well being. Addiction includes habituation.

Adjournment The putting off or postponing by a court of a matter pending before the court until another specified time, sometimes referred to as a continuance.

Adjudication The court act or process of trying and determining issues pending before it.

Adjudicatory Hearing A hearing to determine whether the allegations of a petition are supported by the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt or by a preponderance of the evidence. In juvenile proceedings—during a fact finding session the court determines whether or not there is sufficient evidence to sustain the allegations contained in a petition. Juvenile counterpart to an adult trial.

Adjournment A postponing of a hearing or a session until another time or place.

Adjudicate To settle by judicial authority.

Adjudication A judgement or decision.

Administrator of Field Services The person directly responsible for directing and controlling the operations of the adult probation and/or parole field services program. This person may be a division head in a large correctional agency, a chief probation officer answering to a judge, or the administrative officer of a court or parole authority with responsibility for the field services program.

Adult A person who is within the jurisdiction of a criminal, rather than a juvenile, court because his/her age at the time of an alleged criminal act was above a statutorily specified limit.

Admission The point of entry into a program; during admission processing the offender receives an orientation to the goals of the program and to program rules and regulations.

Affidavit A written declaration or statement of facts, made voluntarily, and confirmed by the oath of affirmation of the party making it, taken before an officer having authority to administer such an oath.

Affirmative Action A concept designed to ensure equal opportunity for all persons regardless of race, religion, age, sex, or ethnic origin. These equal opportunities shall include all personnel programming, including selection, retention, rate of pay, demotion, transfer, layoff, termination, and promotion.

Aftercare Control, supervision and care exercised over juvenile offenders release from correctional facilities through a stated release process. (See Releasing Authority.)

Agency The unit of a governing authority which has direct responsibility for the execution of a corrections program, including the implementation of policy as set by the governing authority. For a residential center, this would be the administrative headquarters of the facilities. In a public agency, this could be a probation department, welfare department or similar agency.

Agency Administrator The head of the parent agency that houses/or is responsible for the adult field services program; the director or commissioner of corrections under which the adult probation and/or parole field services are constituted; or the chairperson of the parole authority or the judge whose court administers probation.

Alias Any name used for an official purpose that is different from a person's legal name.

Allegation An assertion, declaration, or statement of a party to an action, made in a pleading, setting out what he/she expects to prove.

Alternative Sentencing A court ruling other than incarceration; such a sentence can include community service or victim restitutuion. (Also called creative sentencing.)

Antisocial Behavior Behavior reflecting a rejection of social norms and values accepted and considered important by group members. Also, behavior that is disruptive or potentially disruptive to the smooth functioning or survival of a group. In this sense antisocial behavior is not determined by outside observers and may include behavior not disapproved by group members.

Appeal A request by either the defense or the prosecution that a case be removed from a lower court to a higher court in order for a completed trial to be reviewed by the higher court.

Appeal Bond Security in a given amount to be posted by an appellant as a requirement for perfecting an appeal.

Appearance The act of coming into a court and submitting to the authority of that court.

Appellant One who initiates an appeal from one court to a higher court.

Appellate Court A judicial tribunal that reviews cases originally tried and decided by lower tribunals. The appellate court acts without a jury and is primarily interested in correcting errors in procedure or in the interpretation of law by the lower courts.

Appellate Jurisdiction The authority of a court to review the decisions of other courts and uphold, reverse, modify, or return them to a lower court for retrial.

Arraignment The appearance of a person before a magistrate in order that he/she may be informed of the charges against him/her, his/her right to counsel, and that he/she may enter a plea and bail may be set.

Arrest The taking into custody of a person so that he/she may be charged with a criminal offense.

Assault and Battery The threat to use force upon another and the carrying out of that threat.

Assigned Counsel An attorney, not regularly employed by a government agency, assigned by the court to represent a particular person(s) in a particular criminal proceeding.

Attorney A person trained in the law, admitted to practice before the bar of a given jurisdiction, and authorized to advise, represent, and for other persons in legal proceedings.

B

Bail The case or bond that is provided by the defendant to assure that he/or she will appear at a further criminal proceeding or action. Defendant's failure to appear as promised could result in forfeiture of the bail or bond.

Bailiff A court attendant entrusted with a variety of duties, such as the custody of prisoners under arraignment, the protection of jurors, and the maintenance of order in the courtroom during a trial.

Bench Judge or judges composing a court.

Bench Warrant A document issued by a criminal court in which a criminal action is pending, directing a police officer to take into custody a defendant in the action who has previously been arraigned and to bring him/her before the court. The function of a bench warrant is to achieve the court appearance of a defendant in a pending criminal action for some purpose other than his/her initial arraignment in the action.

Bond A written obligation usually with surety, to ensure that the person will obey the orders of the court.

Bondsman One who provides bond or surety.

Booking A police administrative action officially recording an arrest and identifying the person, the place, the time, the arresting authority, and the reason for the arrest.

Burglar One who commits burglary.

Burglary The crime of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony.

C

Capias A writ authorizing an officer to arrest the person specified therein.

If you're feeling weighed down by routine tasks we'd like to lighten your load.

Imagine no more mail-in cards, monthly report forms or log books. Instead, there's BI Profile.

BI Profile frees you from manually keeping tabs on offenders. Each offender spends a few minutes on the telephone with BI Profile fulfilling your routine reporting requirements. A lot of information is gathered--and archived--but you'll only hear from us if the offender reports changes or misses scheduled calls. BI Profile is available in Spanish, too.

Large or small, BI Profile gives you the strength to do justice to your caseload--at virtually no cost to your agency--because our modest fees are charged to offenders on their phone bills.

See and hear the power of BI Profile. Call today for a free video and a live demonstration.
